Film Streams
At the Ruth Sokolof Theater
2008 Year-End Report

“I love the opportunity to support something that I truly enjoy and hope everyone gets a chance to experience.”
Dear Film Streams Friends and Supporters,

In late 2008, we sent out a web survey to our members, as well as non-members signed up to receive email updates from Film Streams. While the numerical feedback was outstanding—100% of respondents described their overall satisfaction with our theater as “Excellent” (88%) or “Good” (12%)—the best part for us was reading the dozens and dozens of overwhelmingly positive notes that people wrote into the survey. I can’t tell you how much these comments mean to us, except to say that the thoughts expressed—some of which you’ll find on this report—are both the reason we’re here and the inspiration that keeps us working hard to bring new and innovative film events to our community.

As numbers go, 2008 was a remarkable year. We sold just under 40,000 tickets, with more than 42,000 visitors coming to the Ruth Sokolof Theater to enjoy a wide variety of films, forums, Q&A’s, and special events. We’ve done our best to compile the past year’s highlights here, including some fun stats about our most popular films and a rundown of the numerous community partnerships and education events that blossomed in 2008. Most important for our future, though, are the figures that speak to your continued and increased involvement. To date, Film Streams has 1,737 members, with the average gift rising this year by 24% (from $77.12 in 2007 to $95.29 in 2008). We sincerely appreciate all your generous support! Without you, the programming recapped in this report, and the many wonderful events coming in 2009 and beyond, simply wouldn’t be possible.

Best wishes for a happy and healthy 2009,

Rachel Jacobson
Director, Film Streams at the Ruth Sokolof Theater

Our first annual fundraiser, Feature 2008 brought 1,000 people to the Holland Performing Arts Center and raised over $188,000 for the Ruth Sokolof Theater. Below: Oscar-winning filmmaker and Film Streams Board Member Alexander Payne interviews special guest Laura Dern. Backstage, Alexander shares a moment with Feature 2008 Event Chairpersons Betiana and Todd Simon.

“Both the [Ruth Sokolof Theater] and its extensive offerings are the sort of resources one expects to stumble upon happily in second-city American metropolises—Seattle, Dallas, Philadelphia, even Washington or Chicago.”

First-Run Films

This past year brought 48 first-run premieres to the Ruth Sokolof Theater, including a diverse selection of American independents, foreign films, and documentaries.

“Where else can you see THE UMBRELLAS OF CHERBOUG on the big screen?”

“My son (19 years old) had not previously seen many of the ‘classic’ films you have shown. He has really enjoyed them, and it is good to see that they are as entertaining for a much younger audience as they were for me when I first saw them as much as fifty years ago.”

Special Events

CALIGARI with live score composed and performed by Orenda Fink, Todd Fink, & Ben Brodin, and the beginning of another popular Met Opera Live in HD season, presented with Opera Omaha.

With the generous support of the Qwest Foundation, Film Streams launched our Film History & Criticism Program for High School Students in 2008. Hundreds of students from throughout the city and beyond have visited the Ruth Sokolof Theater as part of this program, including students from Omaha Central, Omaha South, Omaha North, Omaha Northwest, Benson, Westside, Creighton Prep, Gretna, Millard North, Millard West, Brownell Talbot, Marian, Duchesne, and Bellevue West. Students enthusiastically viewed and discussed films ranging from 1960s French New Wave (THE 400 BLOWS) to classic Hitchcock (PSYCHO, REBECCA) to a Spanish expressionist film from the 1970s (SPIRIT OF THE BEEHIVE). The program focuses on film literacy and critical thinking, with students learning how to interpret films in a cultural context, empathize with characters in ways beneficial to their own personal development, and analyze film as an art form.

“‘You and your stellar team have provided our students with a remarkable experience. Our sincere thanks for all you do to educate our film consumers and creators.’”

“‘These extra events you are doing are wonderful. I think Film Streams is a true cultural gem.’”
