Apr–Jun 2020
SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

A Note from Film Streams

We hope you are safe and healthy as you read this. As you know, in mid-March we temporarily closed our cinemas as our community banded together to control the spread and impact of COVID-19. In the following pages, you’ll see the spring programming we had planned for you prior to our closure. As soon as we can, we’ll be announcing new dates and theater locations for much, if not all, of the programming you see here.

As uncertain as this moment feels, this public health crisis affirms what makes our community so special: the people. We are so grateful for the public health officials, healthcare workers, and community advocates for their tireless work and dedication for the benefit of our community and country, and enormously appreciative of the Film Streams members and supporters helping our organization navigate an unprecedented time.

The day will come when we can join together again in the magical experience of watching a movie together in a communal space before a flickering screen. We hope it’s soon.

NEW RELEASES

Human Nature
Dir. Adam Bolt — 2019 — USA — 95 min
A provocative documentary on the possibilities of the gene editing technology CRISPR, which opens the door for a variety of interventions in human development.

First Cow
Dir. Kelly Reichardt — 2019 — USA
121 min — PG-13
A frontier-set meditation on the American Dream — part crime drama, part buddy comedy — that gently subverts Reichardt’s reputation as one of independent cinema’s most languid storytellers.

Deerskin
Dir. Quentin Dupieux — 2019 — France — 77 min
French with subtitles
In this dark and surreal comedy, a recent divorcee (Oscar-winner Jean Dujardin) becomes obsessed with a vintage fringed deerskin jacket that begins to exert an uncanny hold on him.

Charm City Kings
Dir. Angel Manuel Soto — 2020 — USA
125 min — R
In Baltimore, teenaged Mouse is drawn by the city’s exhilarating dirt bike scene. An adaptation from Jada Pinkett Smith and Will Smith of the 2013 documentary 12 O’Clock Boys.

Home Movies

During our time of closure, we are thrilled to collaborate with some terrific distributors to bring a bit of the Film Streams experience to your home. Head to FilmStreams.org/HomeMovies to find a slate of films that would have been in theatrical release, now available for you to virtually screen. For each title, a portion of all sales will benefit Film Streams.

NEW RELEASES

The Booksellers
Dir. D.W. Young — 2019 — USA — 99 min
This celebration of antiquarian booksellers goes inside a small but fascinating world populated by an assortment of obsessives, intellects, eccentrics, and dreamers.

Sorry We Missed You
Dir. Ken Loach — 2019 — UK — 100 min
England’s empathetic chronicler of the working class returns with a film that exposes the pitfalls of the gig economy.

The Personal History of David Copperfield
Dir. Armando Iannucci — 2019 — UK/USA
119 min — PG
Dev Patel stars in Charles Dickens’s coming-of-age epic, as adapted by the genius who gave us The Death of Stalin and TV’s “VEEP”.

True History of the Kelly Gang
Dir. Justin Kurzel — 2019 — USA — 124 min — R
This retelling of the life of Australian rebel Ned Kelly is a gritty, action-packed twist on an iconic piece of folklore.

John Lewis: Good Trouble
Dir. Dawn Porter — 2019 — USA — 124 min — R
A present-day verité profile of a lawmaker whose 60-plus years of social activism and legislative action has addressed civil rights, voting rights, gun control, health-care reform, and immigration.

Billie
Dir. James Erskine — 2019 — USA — 96 min
The story of the singer who changed the face of American music — and the journalist who died trying to tell it — crafted from extraordinary unheard interviews and restored performances.

The Woman Who Loves Giraffes
Dir. Alison Reid — 2019 — Canada — 83 min
Years before Jane Goodall or Diane Fossey embarked on their immersive research, biologist Anne Dagg traveled to South Africa to study giraffe behavior. In this film, she retraces her journey.

Sátántangó
Dir. Béla Tarr — 1994 — Hungary — 439 min — Hungarian with subtitles
NEW RESTORATION! Follows members of a defunct agricultural collective living in a post-apocalyptic landscape who come into a large financial windfall. As some of the villagers conspire to take off with all of the earnings, a mysterious character, long thought dead, returns to the village. A seminal work of slow cinema, with exquisitely composed and lyrical long takes, shot in stunning black-and-white.

Stay tuned for date and location info (TBD) for all films and events.

Hey, local filmmakers!

Submissions are now open for our eleventh annual Local Filmmakers Showcase, featuring work by area artists. This year’s program will be selected by our guest jury, the artists and community members of BFF! For a film to be eligible, at least one of the project’s filmmakers must be a resident of Nebraska or Iowa.

Submit your work by midnight on Friday, July 31.

Info and application at FilmFreeway.com/LFS2020.

Thank you for your support

Each year, Film Streams raises more than half our budget through contributions — essential support that allows us to stay true to our mission. That support is all the more important right now without the daily ticket and concessions sales we also depend on. Thank you to all of our amazing members and donors for standing by our side during this unprecedented time. We can’t wait for the day when we reopen our doors and see you again.

Though woefully underrepresented behind the camera, women have been an integral part of the Hollywood establishment for decades, changing the landscape of cinema through innovative storytelling. Film Streams’ celebration of women directors continues with a retrospective of box-office hits from some of the most important American and Canadian filmmakers of the century. From intimate dramas to full throttle action films, the work showcased in this series highlights the undefinable form of a “woman’s film.”

Lost in Translation
Dir. Sofia Coppola — 2003 — USA/Japan — 102 min — R
Sofia Coppola became the third woman ever nominated for a Best Director Oscar for this quiet drama about two unlikely friends (Scarlett Johansson and Bill Murray) exploring their connection in bustling Tokyo.

Desperately Seeking Susan
Dir. Susan Seidelman — 1985 — USA — 104 min — PG-13
When a suburban housewife (Rosanna Arquette) experiences amnesia, she takes on the identity of a downtown scene queen (Madonna). With her second feature, Susan Seidelman married her gritty New York aesthetics with the mainstream.

Selma
Dir. Ava DuVernay — 2014 — UK/USA/France — 128 min — PG-13
Ava DuVernay became a household name following the premiere of this powerful film about the civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery. David Oyelowo stars in a tour de force performance as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Yentl
Dir. Barbra Streisand — 1983 — UK/USA — 133 min — PG
Barbra Streisand directs, co-writes, co-produces, and stars in this musical tearjerker about a Jewish woman who disguises herself as a man in order to study at a yeshiva.

American Psycho
Dir. Mary Harron — 2000 — USA/Canada — 104 min — R
A wealthy banking executive (Christian Bale) hides his psychopathic tendencies from colleagues and friends. A satire of materialism and male privilege in ’80s New York.

Frida
Dir. Julie Taymor — 2002 — Mexico/USA/Canada — 123 min — R
A biopic of Mexican surrealist artist Frida Kahlo (Salma Hayek), tracing her life from tragedy at age 18, to her dysfunctional relationship with muralist Diego Rivera (Alfred Molina), to her various affairs and struggles with alcoholism.

Love & Basketball
Dir. Gina Prince-Bythewood — 2000 — USA — 124 min — PG-13
Childhood sweethearts Monica (Sanaa Lathan) and Quincy (Omar Epps) test their relationship as they juggle romance and the demands of their careers as professional basketball players.

Sleepless in Seattle
Dir. Nora Ephron — 1993 — USA — 105 min — PG
Sam is starting a new life in Seattle. Annie is getting married in Baltimore. Thousands of miles stand between them, but nothing can keep them apart. Tom Hanks and Meg Ryan star in this classic romantic comedy.

Zero Dark Thirty
Dir. Kathryn Bigelow — 2012 — USA/UAE — 157 min — R
The international manhunt for Osama Bin Laden unfolds through the eyes of a CIA intelligence analyst. Jessica Chastain stars in this thrilling fact-based drama.

Wayne’s World
Dir. Penelope Spheeris — 1992 — USA — 97 min — PG
After her work for “Saturday Night Live” and two installments of her legendary rock doc The Decline of Western Civilization, Penelope Spheeris was tapped to bring America’s favorite metal-loving community access television hosts to the big screen.

Valley Girl
Dir. Martha Coolidge — 1983 — USA — 99 min — R
A teenage queen bee (Deborah Foreman) falls for two very different men: an intellectual (Jeroen Krabbé) and a pickle salesman (Peter Riegert). To choose between, she’ll have to follow her heart.

The Matrix
Dir. Lana Wachowski & Lilly Wachowski — 1999 — USA — 136 min — R
A computer hacker (Keanu Reeves) learns from a mysterious rebel (Laurence Fishburne) that his reality is a simulation. A sci-fi landmark about artificial intelligence and free will.

Big
Dir. Penny Marshall — 1988 — USA — 104 min — PG
A twelve year-old’s wish to be big is realized when he wakes up one morning in an adult’s body. Tom Hanks stars in this classic comedy about the perks and pitfalls of adulthood. Crosses over with our family & children’s series (see page 13).
The Golden Age of Hollywood

INSTRUCTORS  Diana Martinez, PhD, Film Streams Education Director
COST  $125  General
       $100  Student/Teacher/Senior/Military
       $75  Film Streams Members

By the 1930s, Hollywood was one of the most powerful and profitable businesses in America. With profits came new film technology, and spectacular pursuits for creative excellence. In this five-week Course, we will look closely at a handful of Hollywood studios whose stable of stars and trademark style exemplify how Hollywood approached filmmaking and moneymaking. By looking at Warner Bros., MGM, Paramount, Universal, and Republic Pictures we will trace the rise of the Golden Age and the power plays that changed film history forever.

SYLLABUS
Casablanca  1942
Design for Living  1933
Easter Parade  1948
Bride of Frankenstein  1935
Driftwood  1947

Deep Dive: The Politics of Disney

INSTRUCTORS  Diana Martinez, PhD, Film Streams Education Director
& Adam Wiener, Film Streams Weitz Fellow
COST  $30  General
       $25  Student/Teacher/Senior/Military
       $20  Film Streams Members

Through the lens of one of the most formidable entertainment companies of all time, this Deep Dive highlights the innovative physical landscapes, pioneering business structures, and strong personal relationships people have with Disney to show how media can fundamentally alter our relationship to the world. The class will focus primarily on the Disney Parks, animated classics, and made-for-television feature films.

Spring Collaborations

No Small Matter
Dir. Greg Jacobs — 2019 — 74 min
VISITING ARTIST & FREE SCREENING An exploration of the impact of high quality preschool education. Post-film discussion with director Greg Jacobs, presented in collaboration with the Buffett Early Childhood Institute.

Trails of Hope and Terror
Dir. Vincent de la Torre — 2017 — 53 min
VISITING ARTIST First-person stories from those who have crossed the US-Mexico border blend with historical reflections on the evolution of migration policy. Post-film discussion with screenwriter Miguel De La Torre, presented with the Goldstein Community Chair in Human Rights.

Dreaming of a Vetter World
Dir. Bonnie Hawthorne — 2018 — 77 min
VISITING ARTIST Following Nebraska farmer and soil scientist David Vetter, this eye-opening film shows it’s possible to jump off conventional agriculture’s pesticide treadmill. Post-film discussion with director Bonnie Hawthorne, presented with Conservation Nebraska and Big Muddy Urban Farm.

Island of Hungry Ghosts
Dir. Gabrielle Brady — 2018 — 98 min
FREE SCREENING Against the backdrop of the yearly crab migration, when locals perform rituals for ghosts, a trauma therapist living on Australia’s Christmas Island works with asylum seekers. Presented with the Institute for Cultural Connections at Metro Community College.

Pina
Dir. Wim Wenders — 2011 — 103 min
An adventurous work of cinema showcasing the bold legacy of a creative visionary, contemporary dance choreographer Pina Bausch. Presented with Amplify Arts, featuring a live performance by tbd. dance collective.

Stay tuned for date and location info (TBD) for all films and events.

Film Streams’ visiting artist programming is generously supported by Bridges Trust.
Spring Collaborations

The Wiz
Dir. Sidney Lumet — 1978 — 133 min
FREE, OUTDOOR SCREENING An adaptation of "The Wizard of Oz" that tries to capture the essence of the African-American experience. Presented in collaboration with Seventy-Six North.

But I’m a Cheerleader
Dir. Jamie Babbit — 1999 — 92 min
Natasha Lyonne stars in this iconic queer cult favorite. Preceded by happy-hour gathering and special introduction, presented with Queer Nite in celebration of LGBTQIA+ Pride month.

The Met: Live in HD
In the interest of public health, The Metropolitan Opera canceled the rest of its 2019-2020 season, including its live broadcasts. While on hiatus, The Met is offering free, streaming encore presentations from all 14 seasons of Live in HD. New performances will drop every weekday evening, and will be available for 20 hours.

The show goes on at MetOpera.org.

Dundee Midnights Hosted by Travis Upshaw

MONOCHROME
A trio of horror films shot in black and white.

Invasion of the Body Snatchers
Dir. Don Siegel — 1956 — USA — 80 min — 35mm
Themes of mass hysteria, paranoia, and the right to self-determination are treated in this McCarthy-era classic. Also a simply fun, thrilling, and imaginative story.

Eraserhead
Dir. David Lynch — 1977 — USA — 89 min
We can thank midnight movie fanatics of yore for helping Lynch’s surreal and nightmarish body-horror debut find an early following.

Psycho
Dir. Alfred Hitchcock — 1960 — USA — 116 min
60th anniversary screening! In a departure, Hitchcock chose to shoot his psychological-horror masterpiece in black and white. It is difficult to imagine it in color, especially the iconic shower scene. We’ll reserve a seat for Mother.

Sights on Sounds Hosted by Patrick Kinney
An ongoing series for fans of great music and great stories.

The Who: The Kids are Alright
Dir. Jeff Stein — 1979 — UK — 101 min
The smashed guitars. The trashed hotel rooms. The music. This free-ranging film is a time capsule from the golden age of rock and one of its most emblematic acts.

Almost Famous
Dir. Cameron Crowe — 2000 — USA — 122 min — R
“Rock stars have kidnapped my son.” Celebrate Mother’s Day with one of our favorite movie moms, Frances McDormand’s stalwart Elaine Miller.

Purple Rain
Dir. Albert Magnoli — 1984 — USA — 101 min — R
In honor of the Purple One’s birthday revisit his pulsating rock musical, as pure an experience as the waters of Lake Minnetonka.

Student Night SUPPORTED BY UNMC
The first Monday of every month, all regular shows are FREE for full-time students, any grade and any age, at both the Ruth Sokolof Theater and Dundee Theater! Present your valid school ID (if applicable) at the Box Office and receive a complimentary movie ticket. Supported by the University of Nebraska at Omaha and University of Nebraska Medical Center.

Stay tuned for date and location info (TBD) for all films and events.
